

THE DISTRICT VR

by Proof of Taste

To empower the human spirit in the digital world by creating the next dimension of virtual life.

What if you could perform a DJ set in front of a live audience anywhere in the world without leaving the comfort of your living room? What if you and your friends could teleport to Berlin on a Friday night and experience the best of electronic hip-hop and techno music in virtual reality? And what if you could explore an ever changing virtual world where you can be who you want to be, regardless of where you come from, or what you look like? Welcome to a vibrant and authentic world that is secure, driven by you the individual, thanks to the power of blockchain. Will you take over the dance floor? Or start a DJ career yourself? Welcome to The District VR.

The District VR (TDVR) is a party district in Virtual Reality with real people, artists, DJs and clubs. A decentralized world combining VR and blockchain technology to enjoy as well as to perform DJ-shows, parties, concerts and events.

For the first time in history, DJ sets in realtime can be played in VR in front of real audiences—no additional equipment required as everything is provided virtually. DJs and vocalists can perform shows together from anywhere in the world without having to be in the same place. In addition, regular players can learn the art of DJing and can build their own fanbases to become VR influencers.

In TDVR people from anywhere in the world and of any cultural background, color, age or gender can be whoever they want to be, to enjoy live events, DJ-shows and concerts together. An evolving virtual world in which the dance floor is never the limit and new forms of interaction will give rise to further use cases in the future.
